Mission First, People Always: Collaborations
and Innovations in Military Education “Service members, Veterans & Families”

FROM THE DESK OF BELINDA JONES, 2010-2011 CCME PRESIDENT

Hello everyone and welcome to a new and exciting year with CCME!

CCME is off to a great start this year with a new approach and fresh focus. Join us in helping raise awareness with the 2011 CCME Education Symposium theme of MISSION FIRST, PEOPLE ALWAYS: Collaborations and Innovations in Military Education

“Service members, Veterans, and Families.” We truly appreciate the support and active role you all have taken as CCME members. The comments and suggestions you shared with us during the 2010 CCME Education Symposium in Nashville, TN set the stage for 2011. We were able to incorporate your diverse and original ideas into the planning stages for the 2011 CCME Education symposium in Tampa, FL and look forward to an outstanding conference this upcoming year. Thank you for your membership and part in shaping our focus for the 2011 symposium. The 2011 Education symposium will focus on current and engaging topics of interest for all attendees. It will also provide the CCME membership a platform upon which you may share your knowledge, experience, and best practices. We are working hard to ensure your experience this year is paramount and beneficial to the work you do for our Service members and their families.

2010 presented many firsts for the CCME Education Symposium. CCME’s 2009-2010 President, Jim Sweizer, led the charge in transferring the conference management activities from the CCME Board to Exhibits Promotion Plus; contracting our registration to Registration Headquarters; and fielding our website management to Academic Explorer. These successful partnerships have allowed us to dedicate more time to our membership and focus on the agenda and content for the 2011

HAPPY TRAILS LED TO AND OUT OF NASHVILLE!

Howdy Partners!

We had a great time in the city of Nashville for the 2010 CCME Symposium in February. The theme was “Developing a 21st Century Total Force – A Matter of Honor.” Your participation made the gathering a great success, and feedback and insights are contributing to what the CCME board has in store for Tampa in 2011. We hope to see you all there!!!

conference. As we move forward with a more concentrated focus and hands-on approach, we seek to be more effective and efficient as your proponents by actively championing your convictions and sharing them with the military education community. You deserve to be heard on the issues that matter to our patrons. In our pursuit to act as your “Community Voice”, we continue to experience changes and firsts for CCME. We have added outreach liaison positions to the CCME Board. These CCME appointed liaisons are helping us cultivate our outreach efforts and keeping us abreast of the latest military education news. We are also enhancing our communications efforts to our membership not just once a year at the conference but throughout the year via our website and new Facebook page. CCME would like to stay connected with you by providing you pertinent information on hot topics and offering an online forum in which you can interact with the CCME membership. Please visit us at www.ccmeonline.org or at our Facebook page, accessible through our website, and share your thoughts and suggestions with the CCME community. In addition, we seek to make a difference in the military community and give back through enhanced CCME scholarships, endowments and volunteerism opportunities.

I can't emphasize how important our membership is to the continued success of CCME. Our perspective CCME members frequently ask the WIFMs (What's in It For Me), why should I become a member of CCME? Becoming a member of CCME extends far beyond a newsletter and a discount on conference registration. CCME provides members an opportunity to further their professional development, connect with a welcoming community of peers, and gain access to current education information. CCME also provides access to long-range benefits that include:

- Information
- Community
- Education
- Inspiration
- Collaboration
- Representation

I leave you with an open invitation to be a part of the solution and make a difference in military education by getting on board with CCME. I hope to see everyone at the 2011 CCME Education Symposium. We encourage your participation through Call for Presentations, as well as assisting in committees and meeting sessions. If you have a special interest or desire to help out in any way, please let me or any member of the CCME Board know or click on the Volunteer Coordinator icon on the website to volunteer. Join us as we embark on a new conference year. Let's step outside the box and into the minds of our students.

Together we can take education to the next level and inspire the next generation of leaders.

Sincerely,

Belinda Jones

CCME President, 2010-2011
